Say What You See is a language development program that helps children learn to read and write. It is based on the premise that children learn best when they are actively engaged in the learning process. The program uses a variety of activities, such as games, songs, and stories, to help children develop their language skills.

Benefits of Say What You See

There are many benefits to using Say What You See, including:

- Improved reading and writing skills
- Increased vocabulary
- Enhanced phonemic awareness

- Improved comprehension skills
- Greater confidence in reading and writing

How to Use Say What You See

Say What You See is a flexible program that can be used in a variety of settings, including homes, schools, and daycare centers. The program is typically used for children between the ages of 3 and 7. There are three levels of the program, each of which is designed to meet the needs of children at different stages of development.

To use Say What You See, simply follow these steps:

1. Choose a level of the program that is appropriate for your child.
2. Gather the materials for the activities in the level.
3. Read the instructions for each activity carefully.
4. Engage your child in the activities in a fun and interactive way.

Tips for Parents and Teachers

Here are a few tips for parents and teachers who are using Say What You See:

- Make sure that your child is enjoying the activities. If they are not, they are less likely to learn.
- Be patient. It takes time for children to learn to read and write. Don't get discouraged if your child does not progress as quickly as you would like.

- Praise your child's efforts. This will help them to stay motivated.
- Work with your child's teacher to ensure that they are receiving the support they need to succeed.

Say What You See is a valuable resource for parents and teachers who want to help children learn to read and write. The program is easy to use and provides children with a variety of engaging activities. With regular use, Say What You See can help children to develop the language skills they need to succeed in school and beyond.
