Once upon a time, there was a small, ordinary chicken named Henrietta Hen. Henrietta lived on a farm with her mother and her sisters and brothers. Henrietta was a happy chicken. She loved to play with her siblings, and she loved to help her mother around the coop.

One day, tragedy struck Henrietta's flock. A fox attacked the coop, and Henrietta's mother and siblings were killed. Henrietta was the only survivor.

Henrietta was devastated. She was all alone in the world, and she didn't know what to do. She wandered around the farm, lost and confused.

One day, Henrietta met a kind old dog named Max. Max took Henrietta under his wing and taught her how to survive on her own. Max taught Henrietta how to find food and water, and he taught her how to protect herself from predators.

With Max's help, Henrietta slowly began to rebuild her life. She made new friends, and she found a new home in Max's doghouse.
